Furious Battle Raging on Western Front from Holland to the Vosges 91 Jap Planes Bagged in Raids on Formosa, Luzon

Report Japanese Fleet Has Come Out Unconfirmed

Nipponese Making Strongest Defense

UNITED STATES PACIFIC FLEET HEADQUARTERS, PEARL HARBOR, Oct. 15 (P)—Fighting off strong Japanese air attacks, Pacific fleet task forces smashed at Formosa and Luzon again Friday and destroyed at least ninety-one enemy airplanes.

As last report the fighting still was under way, and there were strong indications that the battle along the approaches to the Orient was building up to a tremendous peak.

Jap Fleet Not Sighted
The Japanese have announced that their fleet is in action. Although there was no indication here that this was so, an engagement with the Japanese fleet long has been sought by Adm. William F. Halsey and his fighting men.

Whatever the extent, the going apparently was not unfavorable for the American forces, despite the fact that the Japanese were making their strongest defense since their smashing defeat in the battle of the Philippine sea June 18 and 19.

Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, commander in chief of Pacific ocean areas, announced the continuing raid in a 10 a. m. (Hawaii time) communique today.

He said "our plane losses so far have been light."

Extravagant Jap Report
There was no comment on Japanese claims to have sunk or damaged more than fifty American ships.

Carrier planes first hit Formosa Wednesday. The task forces fought off small groups of enemy aircraft that night, and again bombed and strafed island installations and shipping Thursday.

Planes of the Japanese Imperial air force counterattacked the task forces off Formosa strongly throughout Thursday night, Nimitz said.

His use of the phrase "imperial air force" indicates that army as well as navy planes might have participated in the counterattack, but gave no indication whether the Japanese actually sent carrier-based planes into the battle.

Churchill in Fine Health; Likes Vodka

MOSCOW, Oct. 15 (P)—Prime Minister Winston Churchill, his health probably more robust than at any other time this year, is putting in some hard licks of work on his mission to Moscow.

When he is not in a conference with Premier Stalin, his time is occupied with reading diplomatic dispatches from Whitehall and with reports from all over the world which pour into his quarters here.

It is reported reliably that the Prime Minister is not an ardent convert to vodka, but likes it well enough with certain hors d'oeuvres. He has not indicated any dismay at the quantities of vodka in evidence at Moscow banquets.

American Deserters Pose as Australians

SYDNEY, Australia, Oct. 15 (P)—Deserters from United States armed forces, some of them absent without leave for as long as two years, are being found in civilian jobs posing as Australians, an American provost marshal said today.

Some of the men rounded up recently were married to Australians, said Captain Chambers, the provost marshal.

Two of those just caught actually were trading with their own countrymen without being detected. One was operating a hamburger stand, selling "genuine American hamburgers" and another conducting a house rental business and charging fellow American excessive rentals.

Three Naval Fliers Killed When Plane Hits Group of Residences

COQUILL, Ore., Oct. 15 (P)—An airplane believed to be a navy plane, plowed through a group of houses here today.

Three naval fliers are dead, and five civilians, including a baby, are in hospitals. One is expected to die.

German Troops Flee from Greece

By NOLAN NORGARD

ROME, Oct. 15 (P)—German troops were reported fleeing northward from Greece today as Allied minesweepers and United States transports began using at least one airport in Athens, liberated capital of the Hellenic nation.

The comparatively few Nazis remaining in Greece were heading for Yugoslavia as fast as limited transport facilities and Allied aerial attack permitted.

Greek Forces Unite
Close on their heels came the forces of liberation—British seaborne units, Greek patriots who buried their factional differences and joined in the immediate job of ousting the hated Germans.

Finally the first shipments of food and medical supplies promised by the Allies to alleviate the suffering of three years under the Nazi whip.

The only indication of the whereabouts of the fleeing Nazis was an air force announcement that British Mustangs had shot up enemy transport, troops and locomotives in the vicinity of Larissa, 135 air miles northwest of Athens and an important junction of rail and highway routes.

Flee from Russian Forces
British units did not appear to intend trying to catch the Germans and forcing them to fight.

The main concern of the Nazis was to run the gauntlet of Marshal Tito's Partisans and the Red army in Yugoslavia to the north. It is 500 airplane miles from Greece's northern border to the German frontier and nearly every feasible land route is already cut.

Athens and its port of Piraeus were occupied yesterday by seaborne units after the Germans fled. Once the breakup of the last German hold on Greece began development came too fast even for the planning and execution of Allied follow-up operations.

Ball Wants Report On Statter Battle

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15 (P)—Senator Ball (R-Minn.) said today he will ask the Senate Campaign Expenditures committee, of which he is a member, to make public a full report on its inquiry into the first fight between two navy officers and a group of AFL teamsters following President Roosevelt's opening campaign speech Sept. 23 at the Statler hotel.

Such a report, he said, should be made "as soon as all of the facts are in."

Wants Only a Bath For His Christmas

ATLANTA, Oct. 15 (P)—Pvt. Mitchell Burns of Washington, D. C., a weary GI in Patton's Third army in France, wrote a friend here not to forget to mail his Christmas package on time.

All he wants for Christmas, said Burns, is "a bath."

Budapest Seized By Germans as Hungary Revolts

Horthy Government Asks for Armistice

By JUDSON O'QUINN

LONDON, Oct. 15 (P)—The death of Field Marshal Erwin Rommel, who as commander of the German Afrika Korps drove the British from the gates of Alexandria before the tide of battle turned at El Alamein in October, 1942, was announced tonight by DNB the official German news agency.

The Berlin broadcast said Rommel had "died of his wounds" but did not say how he was wounded or when he died. DNB said Hitler had ordered a state funeral for the crafty German field commander.

Long Reported Dead
Allied field dispatches first reported rumors that he was dead on July 29, and the next day dispatches quoted Nazi prisoners and French civilians as saying he died of wounds suffered when his car was strafed.

German news and propaganda agencies denied reports of his death at the time but admitted he had suffered a brain concussion and other injuries in an automobile accident caused by Allied strafing planes on the Normandy battlefield July 17. Rommel became known as the "Desert Fox" during the African campaigns and his Afrika Korps in the summer of 1942 threatened to cut its way to the Suez canal.

British Stalled Drive
The British under then Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery stalled the German offensive on the approaches to Alexandria, and later mounted a counteroffensive which ended in the destruction of Rommel's forces in Tunisia.

Rommel was ground commander in the Normandy at the time of the Allied invasion, and it was he who plotted the futile German plans to block the Allies at the Atlantic wall.

The DNB broadcast described Rommel as one of Germany's "most successful army leaders whose name will be linked forever with the heroic battle of our Afrika Korps."

Allied Supreme Commander Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower considered Rommel a "great general" but "not a superman."

New York Times Out For FDR, but Lauds Dewey's Domestic Policy
NEW YORK, Oct. 15 (P)—The New York Times, which supported Wendell L. Willkie for the presidency in 1940, will come out for President Roosevelt's re-election in an editorial to be published in Monday's edition.

The Times will say that on the issue of foreign policy "we believe that the scales tip heavily in favor of the Democratic party," which, the editorial will say, has written "a more forthright statement of policy than the Republican party and one more capable of prompt and decisive action."

Prefacing its reasons for supporting President Roosevelt with the statement that "we have not changed our minds about the domestic record of the Roosevelt administration," the Times will say that "in some respects we believe that an administration led by Mr. Dewey could do a better job in the domestic field."

417,677 Draft Cases Handled by F.B.I.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15 (P)—On the eve of the fourth anniversary of the selective service act, the Federal Bureau of Investigation disclosed today it has handled draft cases for enough men to make an army of thirty-three modern infantry divisions.

Closed cases totaled 417,677 on Oct. 1, and in every instance the man involved was made available to the armed services or his case "disposed of according to law," E. E. Conroy, special agent in charge of the New York FBI, said in a statement.

Roosevelt Is 1-3 Choice in Betting

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 15 (P)—President Roosevelt is a 1-3 choice to win the November election, meaning a better bet would be $3 to win $1 and the odds on Gov. Thomas E. Dewey are 2-1, meaning a better bet would be $2 to win $1.

Dewey is elected, Betting Commissioner James J. Carroll said today. Carroll listed twenty-nine states with 296 electoral votes in the Roosevelt column. The other nineteen states with 235 electoral votes are in the Dewey column but the odds on Illinois, New York and New Jersey voting the Republican ticket are so close as to be uncertain, Carroll said.

The same odds of 5-6 are quoted on both Democratic and Republican candidates in those three states.

Of the states considered likely to vote Democratic, the betting chart shows Missouri, Pennsylvania, Oklahoma, Massachusetts and New Hampshire as those in which the election will be closest. The Roosevelt bettor must wager $5 to win $3 while the Dewey bettor must wager $5 to win $6.

In Texas, Arkansas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia, North and South Carolina, Florida and Virginia, the Roosevelt odds are 1-8 and the Dewey odds 6-1. The Roosevelt odds in Tennessee are 1-4 and on Dewey 3-1.

Ohio, Oregon and Minnesota are considered better Republican states, the bettor having to wager $5 to win $3 on Dewey and $5 to win $6 on Roosevelt.

Mine Workers Open Campaign For Gov. Dewey

Unionists Back G.O.P. Candidate

By RICHARD KASISCHKE

LOGAN, W. Va., Oct. 15 (P)—United Mine Workers officials, following precepts laid down at the UMW National convention, opened their election campaign in the populous southern coal fields today urging the rank and file to support Thomas E. Dewey for president.

William L. Blizard, vice president of district 17, Charleston, told a Logan mass meeting of 500 miners that "the record reveals Dewey to be a firm believer in equal justice, fearless and courageous action, and a capable administrator."

Titler Supports Dewey
George J. Titler, president of district 29, Beckley, speaking at the same time at meetings in McDowell county, the state's biggest bituminous producer, also declared his support for the Republican presidential nominee and urged the miners to do likewise.

Blizard in an hour-long speech, asked the miners to oppose the reelection of President Roosevelt, whose administration he said was attempting to "destroy" the union. He also denounced Governor M. M. Neely as a "double" crosser and strike "breaker."

Delegates to the UMW convention in Cincinnati "condemned President Roosevelt and praised Governor Dewey," Blizard said, adding that he would "accept the policy of the convention and vote and work for Dewey."

Praise for Lewis
Blizard said that "some people don't like John L. Lewis," the UMW chief. But Blizard declared that "Lewis has made his leadership good enough for me. Lewis has never betrayed the miner, therefore I shall vote for his choice for president."

Blizard also criticized the support given the fourth term cause by Earl Browder, leader of the communist party, saying:

"As I see this election, the coal miner must decide between Roosevelt and Browder, or Dewey and Lewis—I don't want any part of communism. I will vote for Dewey."

Scores Gov. Neely
His remarks about Neely were in reference to the captive coal mine strike at Gary in November, 1941, when the governor dispatched state troops to the scene.

"The coal miners will not forget when he (Neely) gave them bullets instead of bread," said Blizard.

The UMW official said that even now he could hear Neely after the November 7 election "yelling his head off" over adverse results and declaring that "the people of West Virginia have betrayed me."

Caribbean Area Gets Storm Warning

MIAMI, Fla., Oct. 15 (P)—Sixty-nine mile winds, with gusts up to eighty-two miles an hour, raked Grand Cayman island today as a tropical hurricane drifted slowly over the Caribbean sea.

The weather bureau warned in a 5 p. m. advisory that winds would gradually increase on the south coast of Western Cuba during the next twelve to twenty-four hours, "probably reaching thirty-five to forty-five miles per hour in squalls late tonight and Monday forenoon."

An alert was continued for the northwestern Caribbean area and the Yucatan peninsula.

Duisburg Given Record Bombing

LONDON, Oct. 15 (P)—More bomb tonnage hit Duisburg during the last two days than London got during the worst month of Hitler's blitz.

In eighteen hours 2,000 RAF bombers showered more than 10,000 tons on Duisburg and lost eighteen planes. During the Luftwaffe's record month on London, September, 1940, German planes dropped just over 10,000 tons, but lost 1,124 aircraft, the air ministry announced tonight.

Brownell Apologizes to White House For Dewey's Error in Quoting FDR

NEW YORK, Oct. 15 (P)—Herbert Brownell, Jr., Republican national chairman, said today that "after a careful reading of the White House analysis of the campaign statements of Gov. Dewey on the New Deal's failure to prepare for war" he was moved "to make an apology."

Brownell said in a statement that Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, Republican candidate for president, quoted Mr. Roosevelt as saying, amidst the rising tide of war, "there is no need for the country to be discommodated."

"The White House—not Mr. Roosevelt, the man who would be president for sixteen years—says the word was 'discommodate,'" Brownell said. "For that the White House has our apologies."

As for the other statements with which the White House takes issue, the very facts cited in answer serve only to substantiate the points made by Gov. Dewey. In full text, reports and statements of which he quoted appear to sustain completely his criticisms of New Deal shortsightedness and incompetence as the nation moved toward war."

Savage Fighting Marks Drive for Port of Antwerp

By ALEX H. SINGLETON

LONDON, Monday, Oct. 16 (P)—The western front flared with action Sunday from its northern end in the Low countries to the southern sector in the Vosges mountains.

While a savage and crucial battle raged south of the Scheldt river estuary, where Canadian forces were striving to free the entry to the port of Antwerp, United States First Army units fighting inside Aachen smashed the heaviest Nazi counter-attack yet made in the direction of that German city and other Americans at the southern end of the line advanced swiftly on Bruere, twelve and one-half miles east of Epinal, France.

Nazi Attack Repulsed
The Nazi attempt to relieve the Aachen garrison was repulsed by massed artillery and anti-tank guns. Doughboys meanwhile worked their way slowly through the city, house by house and pillbox by pillbox.

The sudden American move in the south was made against only spotty Nazi resistance despite reports that the Bruere vicinity, from which the German earlier had launched violent counterattacks, was strongly defended.

Patton Troops Advance
Also on the move was Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's Third army, which drove a mile east beyond the Parroy forest in the Metz-Nancy sector of the line, and the Little (second) radio said in this crucial struggle for supply channels—a test which Berlin said might determine the need for a winter war.

Blast Half of Pocket
Twin Canadian drives caved in half the stubborn German pocket below the Scheldt estuary blocking Allied use of Antwerp, one of the world's greatest ports, thirty miles to the east.

Infantrymen bursting south from their Scheldt beachhead linked with units at the head of Savoiaars in the east. Three miles to the west, Canadians struck over the Leopold canal, seized Watervliet, and hit within two miles of the main beachhead facing to the north.

The double successes forced the Germans to pull back to a small canal running through the middle of the Scheldt pocket about six miles from the coast, a front dispatch said.

Canadians Driven Back
But north of Antwerp the Germans in a powerful counterattack drove Canadian army men back from the roads and railway causeway leading to the estuary "watchdog" islands of Zuid Beveland and Walcheren.

To the east in Holland, British forces battered another 1,000 yards southeast of Overloon against fierce resistance, striking within 2,500 yards of the Nazi stronghold at Venray toward the German frontier. A front dispatch reported signs of a German pullback all along the narrow front before Venray.

Aachen remained the focal point of the heaviest western front battles. But even as the Germans threw in new strength there, Allied planes tumbled 4,000,000 news leaflets on six cities along an eighty-mile long sector near the Rhine, telling the civilians of the progress of the war closing in upon them.

Truman Confident Roosevelt Will Win

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 15 (P)—Senator Harry S. Truman, Democratic vice-presidential candidate, told a press conference here today that he had heard nothing to make him feel "the least bit discouraged about Democratic prospects for victory."

He added, in response to a reporter's question, that President Roosevelt is physically able "to take care of himself."

The report asked if he cared to comment "on apprehension in Republican circles as to the president's health."

Any such apprehension, Truman replied, "is grossly exaggerated."

A B-29 BASE IN WEST CHINA, Oct. 14—Delayed—Enemy interference with a massed formation of B-29 Superfortresses which dropped bombs on Formosa today was so negligible that bomber crews played gin rummy enroute home over Japanese-held territory.

6,500 Allied Planes Blast Nazi Supply Bases near Siegfried Line

LONDON, Monday, Oct. 16 (P)—More than 6,500 Allied planes, including 4,000 heavy bombers, gave Germany a violent hammering Sunday that left her main supply bases back of the Siegfried line battered and smoking. Six-ton earthquake bombs dropped by RAF Lancasters scored direct hits on the already dry Sorpe dam, 20 miles southeast of Dortmund.

As Duisburg and Cologne were left in flames by attacks over more than thirty-six hours, hand-picked British and Canadian fliers successfully breached the Sorpe dam Sunday morning, according to Flight Lieutenant G. Gansell, of Winnipeg, Canada, who was in the first wave of planes blasting the dam. The Sorpe structure was hit before—in

Russian Troops Capture Petsamo

Dewey Replies To Roosevelt

By W. W. HERCHER

LONDON, Monday, Oct. 16 (P)—Russian troops captured the Arctic port of Petsamo yesterday, fought their way deeper inside the Yugoslav capital of Belgrade, and on the plains of capitulating Hungary battled against hundreds of German tanks hurled across the invasion route to Austria, 150 miles beyond Moscow was silent on Budapest's official announcement that Hungary had asked the Allies for an armistice.

Nor did the Russian bulletin mention the battle for Belgrade, but Berlin said Soviet troops and Marshal Tito's Yugoslav Partisans had fought their way into the center of the city after reaching its outskirts Saturday. A late Moscow broadcast also said that the puppet government under Field Marshal Milan Nedich fled along with the German regime.

Berlin implied that other Soviet troops had crossed into German East Prussia on a twenty-seven-mile front in Nemel territory, but Moscow did not announce any operations in that sector aside from heavy air raids Saturday night on Memel, the East Prussian rail center of Tilsit, and the Latvian port of Liepaja.

Surrender Terms Arouse Thomas
NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 15 (P)—Norman Thomas, Socialist candidate for president, today told a gathering that "there are at least 500,000 decent Germans who might revolt against the Hitler regime if the peace terms were lightened."

He said that he believed "the thought of their country being permanently divided and the threat of work in foreign countries destroyed rather than stimulated the Germans will to resist their present government and surrender to the Allies."

Thomas characterized the term "unconditional surrender" as applied to the Axis as "something meant to divert us from thinking and making us drunk with emotional wine."

Japanese Fleet May Attack Soon

By EITON C. FAY

Associated Press War Analyst
The Japanese, after more than four days of punishment from powerful American carrier forces, have reacted with considerable vigor.

A Sunday night communique from the United States Pacific fleet said that "strong counterattacks" by enemy aircraft were delivered against the task forces operating in the Formosa area.

The announcement, moreover, mentions that some of the attacking planes were shot down by anti-aircraft. This indicates that at least a few of the enemy planes got through the American fighter plane defenses into areas in which surface ships were operating.

A few hours before issuance of that communique, radio Tokyo, in a propaganda broadcast, said the Japanese high command "at long last gave the final signal at an undecoded date to the Japanese naval fleet to rush to the scene of battle in full force." A little later, Tokyo reported that its fleet "is now in pursuit of the fleeing enemy task force," a rather curious report in light of the subsequent American communique's flat statement that "this fight is continuing."

Tokyo referred to "the psychological moment," an apparent reference to previous utterances by Japanese naval officials that the fleet was waiting to destroy American seapower at one swoop.

LAVALE BROWNIES MAKING AFGHAN, BOOK MARKERS

A number of members of the Lavale Brownie troop have completed several knitted squares for the afghan being made as the troop's war relief project. It was reported at a meeting of the group Saturday morning at the LaVale fire hall. Additional yarn and materials were distributed.

The Brownies also began work on a civic project at Saturday's meeting and a number of book markers were completed for use in the Cumberland library. Markers will be made at each meeting of the troop until a quota is completed and they will be contributed to the library.

During the recreation period a book, endorsed especially for Brownies, was read by Mrs. Douglas Smith. Following the readings, games were played. Mrs. Smith and Mrs. William Ludman, leaders, were in charge of the meeting. The Brownies will meet Saturday, October 20, at 11 o'clock in the fire hall.

Junior League Holds Dinner-Meeting

The B'er Chayim Junior League held a dinner-meeting at the temple house at 6 o'clock Sunday evening. Jay Beneman, chairman of the program committee, and his assistants, were in charge of the affair. Various activities to be carried out by the group were outlined. Cultural, social and athletic events were planned, and a schedule arranged for the coming seasons. Special guests at the dinner included Miss Gordie Lee Kompanek, representing the Junior League of the Centre street Methodist church, and Miss Donna Matthews, representing St. Luke's Lutheran church. The visitors gave reports of the activities of their respective clubs.

Persuasive Points On Court Reform

COGENT REASONS for support of the court reorganization constitutional amendment proposal at the November election are set forth in the pamphlet written by former Chief Judge D. Lindsey Sloan, of this city, which has been published and is being circulated by the Maryland Bar Association.

Judge Sloan believes the proposed changes "will add to and not subtract from the independence of the judiciary" for one thing. "The appellate court," he writes, "should be wholly and completely independent of the trial courts. An argument is that the appellate judges are kept in touch with what is going on around them and this better qualifies them for the work. As Judge Soper said in his article in the Maryland Law Review, the judges of the court of appeals are men who have had twenty-five or more years in the general practice of the law and are prepared by experience to sit in judgment on the cases which may come before them.

"This is a common law state. Our system is built on the experiences of many centuries; we didn't live through it all. Its principles are pretty well established but we are concerned principally with their application. Forty-six states have the plan proposed by the Bond committee; two, Maryland and Delaware, have our system. If we are and have been right, they're all out of step but us.

The Baltimore city members of the court of appeals do not have any local trial work, but I have never heard any criticism of the quality of their work. They were Judges Le Grand, Cochran, Bartol, Bryan, Schumaker, and Bond and Adams. You can't throw stones at any of them.

"In our court, eight men sit around the table in the consultation room. Often one of them has been appealed from, and there are many such cases every term. He steps out of the room while the other six sit in judgment on him. I think it's wrong; the court of appeals ought to be a COURT OF APPEALS with every judge sitting on all appeals."

Judge Sloan emphasized the capitalized words in italics, for these reason capitals are here used, there being no italics in this font of type being temporarily used because of the newspaper shortage. But the point is one of the most persuasive yet advanced in favor of lifting trial work from the appeals court judges.

"We have an eight-man court," Judge Sloan further wrote on this point. "The number ought to be odd and not even, so that there may be a decision on every appeal. I recall many cases in which there were affirmances by a divided vote, in which there should have been opinions. Zoning was established in Baltimore because seven and not eight judges sat in the case. But for that decision, it might, and probably would, have been long delayed. Here Judge Sloan adds emphasis to the contention.

Little or nothing is seen in the argument that five judges cannot do all the work required and equally so in the supporting argument that when we had four and five-judge courts, the court fell behind in its work. The latter is shown up by a citation of the records of cases docketed and decided. "Five judges," it is declared, "if relieved of circuit duties, can do all the work that eight are doing now, and so reduce the burden on the taxpayers of the state. Why have more judges than we need to do the business of the court? We had a court of four from 1851 to 1864, and five from 1864 to 1887. In personnel and quality, they will compare with any other groups in our history, and they had no circuit duties. Although Maryland is a small state, it has a larger number of appellate judges in proportion to its population than any other state in the union."

With those points, as well as with others advanced in his article, Judge Sloan makes a persuasive case in favor of the adoption of the proposed constitutional changes.

The Fire Should Be Put Out First

JAMES EMERY BROOKS, of Glen Ridge, N. J., who writes a good many letters to the editors of newspapers, sent one to The News the other day, to which attention has not been given hitherto because so many other things have bobbed up. In it he sounds a fire alarm and makes the point that Americans of all parties should unite to put out the blaze, which is threatening our governmental structure.

"The election this year," Brooks stated, "is not an ordinary contest between two political parties; it is the most extraordinary election we have ever held. It is a crusade against a band of vandals who have gotten possession of our federal government, and who are intent on destroying that wonderful structure, which cost us, and our fathers, so much effort to build.

"Because this band is so firmly entrenched in many ways, it cannot be attacked and defeated by the Republican party alone. It will require the votes of good patriotic Democrats as well.

"A century ago, New York city was protected by volunteer fire companies. They were kept at a high pitch of efficiency by the rivalry between them, which sometimes led to street fights; but always, they put out the fire first.

"The good citizens of all parties should unite on November 7 to put out the fire kindled nearly twelve years ago by the New Deal. After that we can resume our party rivalries as usual."

Yes, let all of us unite as volunteer firemen to put out this dangerous fire, which is consuming the vital parts of our splendid governmental edifice. Republicans must not only work to that end by stirring up party activity but they must, as Brooks advises, enlist the cooperation of apprehensive Democrats, whose number has been increasing.

A Taint That Will Last Long

ONE of the most evil men who ever lived is dead in Japan—Mitsuru Toyama, often referred to as Japan's "unofficial emperor." It was Toyama who plotted the wars of 1894 and 1904 in order to gain for himself the rich mining concessions. He helped plot the war in Manchuria and China, and more than any man, was responsible for the present conflagration.

Mitsuru Toyama fooled many a glib American. Many times he was represented abroad as being kind and gentle man, a well-whiskered, bespectacled old gentleman who couldn't bring himself to kill a mosquito.

But the facts are that he founded and led the notorious Black Dragon Society and that he planned and directed countless assassinations and other outright murders. He was correctly termed by one astute correspondent "the greatest master of political bullies and cut-throats in Japan."

It was his men who slew Japan's liberal premier and two members in 1932. It was his men who murdered four cabinet ministers in 1936. It was Toyama who called for the "greater East Asia co-prosperity sphere," and it was his man who took over the government—Hideki Tojo.

Dead at 90—the Japanese press—which for so many years feared to print his name at all—now lauds him as "a most respected leader among Japanese patriots." It will take many years to rid Japan of this taint that this black-hearted man helped to place upon it.

A Cure That Just Wasn't

THE FOURTH-TERMERS are exerting elaborate efforts to explain away the large volume of unemployment during the first eight years of the Roosevelt administration, but they are not convincing.

The only way in which the fourth-termers try to get around the fact noted by Governor Dewey that ten million men and women were still jobless in 1940—a statement backed by the American Federation of Labor—is by pointing out that more people were employed in 1940 than in 1930 or 1929 or any other preceding year.

But that is no satisfactory answer. There is no real comfort in saying to the jobless man that he should not complain because more workers are employed than when he had a job.

After all, the population of the United States didn't stand still between 1930 and 1940. The federal census shows that we had nine million more residents in 1940 than we had ten years earlier. And a larger percentage of the population was of employable age in 1940 than in 1930 because the median age had advanced from 26.5 to 29 years.

Things are not always as they seem. With the presidential election day three weeks away they are apt to become less and less what they seem.

For some weeks prior to the WLB report pleading insufficient data to enable wage action, the best labor reporters were able to write from Washington that the Roosevelt coterie thought another wage increase was in the air. Indeed, what would be too low. Indeed, what could be gained by it, in the way of votes, and even wages are a secondary consideration to this most vital electoral matter here now.

The pessimist sees only the frost on the pumpkin—the optimistic the pie crust beneath.

A couple of years ago Mrs. Mary Lasswell stopped her car at a traffic light—a dumpy, windswept old lady opened the door of the car and climbed in, sat down and said: "You don't mind if I ride along with you, do you?" Mrs. Lasswell didn't mind at the time and she has been riding ever since—because the dumpy old lady became the immortal Mrs. Feeley, prime character in Mrs. Lasswell's hilarious best-seller "Suds in Your Eye."

Some months later the same Mrs. L. heard a great racket in a patrol wagon. The cops were taking to the jailhouse two elderly women who were playing strip-poker with the shades up. . . and those two quaint characters became Miss Tinkham and Mrs. Rasmussen of "Suds in Your Eye", although neither Miss Tinkham nor Mrs. Rasmussen were much like the patrol wagon ladies in other respects.

Blow-up of War Labor Board Is Seen If a General Wage Boost Is Not Given

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15 — Labor's anguish at failing to get another wage increase out of the War Labor Board has been described in the press reports as "blow-up."

It was an ordinary, regulation bitterness—and restrained. Labor leaders Green and Murray blimmed indignation. It was a routine indignation. No one got shot—and no general strike was called.

Things are not always as they seem. With the presidential election day three weeks away they are apt to become less and less what they seem.

For some weeks prior to the WLB report pleading insufficient data to enable wage action, the best labor reporters were able to write from Washington that the Roosevelt coterie thought another wage increase was in the air. Indeed, what would be too low. Indeed, what could be gained by it, in the way of votes, and even wages are a secondary consideration to this most vital electoral matter here now.

In Vest Pocket

The CIO is already in Mr. R's vest pocket, at least the leaders are. The AFL is fairly well split, but labor, as such, is counted definitely for Roosevelt. This is not enough to win.

The votes of white collar workers, business people, farmers and others are those for which he must campaign, the ones he must lure. What better appeal could be made than that that intrusion ever since—because the dumpy old lady became the immortal Mrs. Feeley, prime character in Mrs. Lasswell's hilarious best-seller "Suds in Your Eye."

Some months later the same Mrs. L. heard a great racket in a patrol wagon. The cops were taking to the jailhouse two elderly women who were playing strip-poker with the shades up. . . and those two quaint characters became Miss Tinkham and Mrs. Rasmussen of "Suds in Your Eye", although neither Miss Tinkham nor Mrs. Rasmussen were much like the patrol wagon ladies in other respects.

Serious Flaw Is Found in World Peace Pact Plan

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14 — Although in the main the document which came out of the Dumbarton Oaks conference is an excellent start, there is one paragraph in it which represents a turning back of the clock in international affairs to perhaps the most reactionary type of thinking that the world has encountered in trying to prevent war.

It occurs in the all-important chapter eight, entitled "arrangements for the maintenance of international peace and security including prevention and suppression of aggression." After six specific recommendations giving the security council power to "investigate any dispute, or any situation which may lead to international friction," and after giving any state the power to bring to the attention of the security council any disputed situation that might endanger the international peace, there is a nullifying paragraph, number seven, which practically emasculates all the preceding points by saying that "domestic" issues cannot be considered.

The exact phraseology of this loophole is as follows:

"The provisions of paragraph one to six of section A should not apply to situations or disputes arising out of matters which by international law are solely within the domestic jurisdiction of the state concerned."

Own Business Cried

For many years nations of an aggressive tendency in world affairs have hidden behind the cry that what they did behind their own borders was their own business and that issues which were defined as "domestic" under international law should not be allowed even to be submitted to international tribunals.

By means of this excuse the question of tariffs, quotas, preferences and economic barriers between nations was always avoided so far as international conferences are concerned. Likewise immigration difficulties which led to bad feeling between nations were always excluded by international law because they were supposed to be "domestic" issues. If this provision had been in effect between 1933 and 1939, and fascism and national socialism had been witnessed by the whole world, the new league would have been powerless to consider any protests even though the dothe new law actually provides that:

"The War and Navy departments shall NOT retail persons in the armed forces for the purpose of preventing unemployment by creating opportunities for employment."

Story Upset by Ford

The automotive war council has reason not to love Henry Ford, the rugged independent of the car-making industry.

A few days ago, the council invited New York, Washington and Chicago newsmen to Detroit to hear the auto industry's problems on reconversion.

From the spotlight executives of each company the reporters heard the plea for prompt government action to aid preparatory reconversion steps. The principal appeal was for priorities to obtain much needed machine tools.

Before the seminar concluded, however, Ford's people blantly announced that Ford needed no tools to start production; that the Ford empire is self-contained; that it is going to beat its competitors to the post-war market with new cars within sixty days after the government gives the green light.

Automotive war council officials groaned with dismay. Ford neatly upset their fearful story on reconversion.

Pertinent Questions

Representative Jed Johnson (D.) of Oklahoma, says the following questions are most often asked of congressmen by servicemen and women.

1. "What are the facts regarding the charge that President Roosevelt was to blame for this country being unprepared for war?"

2. "Do you think Sidney Hillman (Continued on Page 7, Col. 8)

Clause in George Bill Would Block Soldier Retention

By CENTRAL PRESS

WASHINGTON—Somewhat lost sight of, but of great importance to GI Joe, is a special provision in the George bill for post war demobilization and reconversion which makes it mandatory on the army and navy to muster out servicemen when their job is done.

Regardless of comment recently by Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey that it might be cheaper to keep the men in service until jobs were available.

Potato Not Hot

On the surface, it was made to appear WLB had handed the president a blazing potato, but that is not true either. The public members of the board, who will note from details of the action decided to hold the question open for further investigation.

The White House, to save itself the embarrassment of immediate action or comment, had the report sent directly to its economic stabilizer, Judge Vinson. In this way, the potato, rather cold as it is, can be fumbled, comfortably about the government until after election.

One superficial phase of the development betrayed some genuine bitterness, but this was possibly a personal rather than a labor matter. The caustic protest of labor's four members on WLB was written by AFL's George Meany and signed by the others.

Meany Hates Davis

What Mr. Meany thinks of the majority decision against him, is only half what he thinks of the board chairman, William H. Davis.

Away back in the John L. Lewis captive mine dispute with the board, Mr. Meany was out of town. An ardent supporter of Lewis, he wanted to vote by telephone, a customary consideration these boards privately grant ordinarily.

Davis refused to let Meany record himself, and although the story never got out to the public, Mr. Meany has overlooked no opportunity since then to let his indignation run concerning anything Davis does.

The political fakery surfacing the whole affair is, in my opinion, conclusively penetrated and exposed by the failure of the labor members of the board to resign and blow up the whole board setup.

Board Fate Involved

If they do not get their general wage increase after election, you may be sure this is exactly what they will do. They will mean their indignation then.

So also with the Petrillo demonstration, refusing to accept Mr. Roosevelt's request to allow the two big recording companies to make musical records. Why Jim Petrillo is one of the closest labor friends the decision of WLB has.

For Mr. Roosevelt's re-election he would do anything—even to rejecting a request. Also he would even change his mind just before election, and ingloriously accede if that action could make Mr. Roosevelt any more votes.

This is politics, my friends, not marbles.

(Distributed by King Features Syndicate, Inc. Reproduction in whole or in part strictly prohibited.)

domestic policies of Germany did have international repercussions, especially through the denial of the four freedoms.

Discussion Banned

There is much talk about re-educating Germany and of preventing any aggressor nation from rising again by preparations within its own borders that might ultimately threaten the peace of a continent or of the world. But under the provisions of the new league, the other nations would be compelled through legalistic considerations to refrain from even discussing the matter. Surely this war has not been fought with such tremendous sacrifices and at such tremendous costs to have the new league revert to the ancient practices by which nations equivocated and avoided responsibility for domestic acts which were international in their effects.

Almost all the important precedents of international law were made long before they are outmoded. Indeed, strictly speaking, under the old precedents, the United States did not observe "neutrality" when the lend-lease bill was passed, and yet American public opinion overwhelmingly supported the extension of such aid because a new concept of international relations had been given the world in the Kellogg-Briand treaties denouncing war as an instrument of national policy, and particularly condemning aggression.

Not Written in Law

The new concept has meant that nations go to the aid of the victims of aggression as the United States did with the lend-lease act but this conception has never been written into international law in a legal sense.

Just why the paragraph in the new league's charter was inserted is reported that the provision was included at the last moment.

These aspects are bound to receive more and more attention after election than before and there will doubtless be many changes suggested when the Dumbarton Oaks draft has a chance to be studied by the leaders of all countries. If a serious attempt is really intended to prevent incipient aggression, the provision with respect to domestic issues as defined under international law will have to be revised.

The intra-city scholastic football championship series, interrupted last week when the Fort Hill High Sentinels and the Allegany High Explorers opened Cumberland Valley Athletic League campaigns, will be resumed Friday night at 8 o'clock when the Sentinels and LaSalle's Explorers meet for the second time this season at the Fort Hill stadium.

The Sentinels, who struck from the air to turn back the Martinsburg Bulldogs 6-2 in their CVAL high-lifter at Martinsburg, W. Va., Saturday, have won four straight battles. In the city series, they walloped LaSalle 54-6 and topped Allegany 13-6.

LaSalle entered the 500 column Saturday night when the Explorers whipped Fort Ashby (W. Va.) High 40-0 for their second triumph in four starts this season.

A long pass in the third quarter from "Ace" Jewell to Don "Bubbles" Whitman produced Fort Hill's touchdown at Martinsburg and gave the outplayed Hilltoppers a four-point edge over the Bulldogs. The Sentinels had taken over the ball on their forty-five and after two plays, Jewell shot a twenty-five yard pass to Whitman who raced thirty yards for the six-pointer. Jewell's attempted pass for the point was grounded. A sustained drive in the final quarter by Martinsburg fell one yard short of a touchdown when Ralph Powell was knocked out-of-bounds by Ray Lapp, Fort Hill end. The Bulldogs score came in the second period after John Flick ran twenty-six yards only to fumble the ball on the Sentinel one. Whitman, who got a bad pass from center and was dropped by Bobby Boyle for a safety. Martinsburg held Fort Hill to a net gain of twenty-nine yards by rushing while the Bulldogs backed through for 128 yards. The West Virginians had ten first downs to the Sentinels' two. Fort Hill completed three of five passes for seventy-six yards and Martinsburg connected two of nine for fifteen yards.

Featuring LaSalle's victory over Fort Ashby was an eighty-yard touchdown run by Tommy Geatz. Geatz also tallied in the opening period on a twenty-five-yard run. The other Explorers touchdowns were made by Bobby Mattingly, Jack Steiner, Jack Kauffman and John Carney. Geatz, Kauffman, John Nesbitt and Ba-zell each tallied an extra point.

The Explorers made thirteen first downs to Fort Ashby's one, completed three of seven passes for twenty yards and gained a total of 345 yards overland. The losers completed one of six tosses for no gain and picked up only eight yards on running plays.

The Keyser (W. Va.) High Golden Tornado, which opened its season last Friday with a 13-0 victory over Ridgely's Blackhaws, will come here Saturday night for a tussle with Allegany, which trimmed Hagerstown 32-6 here Friday night in its CVAL curtain raiser.

In only conference game on tap this week, Ridgely will oppose the Moorefield High Yellow Jackets at Moorefield Friday. Moorefield and the Romney High Pioneers battled to a scoreless tie in a conference scrap Friday.

In other games Friday, Mason-town will invade Parsons, Romney will be host to Fort Ashby and Martinsburg and Charles Town will meet at Charles Town. In another Saturday tussle, Hagerstown will entertain St. James.

Third Service Command To Hold Ring Tourney

FORT MONROE, Va., Oct. 15 (AP) — A regional elimination tournament in the Third Service Command boxing championship matches will be held at Fort Monroe Nov. 9-11, Phil Davis, post director of recreational activities, announced today.

Fort Monroe will be host to boxing teams from Fort Story, Norfolk army base, Hampton Roads port of embarkation, Norfolk army air field, Langley field, Camp Patrick Henry and Fort John Curtis.

Winners in the matches at Monroe will go to Fort George G. Meade, Md., to meet winners of other regional eliminations for the championship of the Third Service Command Dec. 13-15. The Third Service Command includes army installations in Virginia, Pennsylvania and Maryland.

Highest since '38

Penn State's fifty-eight points against Muhlenberg this fall was the highest total achieved by the Lion gridders since 1938.

Unique Record

Pete Ferris of San Francisco holds a unique record, in that he has rolled eighteen games of 299 but has never been able to compile 300.

Offense Features College Football Games This Year

Irish, Army, Penn and Indiana Pile Up Huge Scores in Winning

By TED MEIER

NEW YORK, Oct. 15 (AP)—Attack, attack, attack seems to be the theme for college football teams this third wartime season, judging from the big batch of touchdowns since the first kickoff a month ago.

Typical of the way the offense has dominated the defense this season were Saturday's big scores that saw Notre Dame wallopp Dartmouth, 64-0; Army smother Pitt, 69-7; Penn overwhelm William and Mary, 46-0; Indiana slaughter Nebraska, 54-0; the Second air force frolic against New Mexico, 89-6; Tennessee slay Florida, 40-0; Randolph field trounce Southern Methodist, 41-0; Washington sink Whitman, 71-0, and Georgia Tech defeat Auburn, 27-0. UCLA tripped St. Mary's, 39-0, while Minnesota and Missouri traded six-pointers before Minnesota finally won, 39-27.

While the size of these scores was surprising, two southern teams, Virginia and Duke, contributed the most unexpected happenings of the afternoon. Virginia held the North Carolina pre-flighters, ranked second to Notre Dame in last week's Associated Press poll, to a 13-13 tie while Duke forced Navy to the utmost before losing, 7 to 0.

Colgate and the Iowa Seahawks also surprised. Colgate upset Cornell, 14-7, while the Seahawks humbled Purdue, of the Western Conference, 13-6.

The day's results left Penn and Army as standouts in the East, followed closely by Navy and Yale. Notre Dame tops in the Midwest with Ohio State leading the Western Conference; Georgia Tech, Wake Forest and Tennessee the Giants in the South; Randolph field in the Southwest; and USC and California on the Pacific coast.

Two players suffered fractured legs. Captain Mac Whiting, of Yale, broke the fibula in his left leg during the Columbia fray and is expected to be lost for the season. Bob Muenster, College of the Pacific fullback, received his fracture in a collision with Roger Harding, California center, during their game on the Pacific coast.

This week's top games pit Navy against Georgia Tech at Atlanta; Great Lakes-Ohio State at Columbus; Wisconsin-Notre Dame at South Bend; Coast Guard academy-Army at West Point; Rice-Southern Methodist at Houston; and UCLA-St. Mary's pre-flight at Los Angeles.

Sinkwich Suffers Appendicitis Attack

DETROIT, Oct. 15 (AP)—Sinkwich, the Detroit Lions' left halfback, was in St. Mary's hospital tonight for observation after suffering an attack of appendicitis during the second period of the Lions' National Football League game this afternoon with the Cleveland Rams. Sinkwich had complained of pains during the last two days.

Midget Court League Will Meet Tonight

Managers of clubs interested in entering the Midget Basketball League will meet tonight at 7 o'clock at No. 1 North Liberty street. A preliminary session for the purpose of discussing such a circuit was held recently and more definite action is expected to be taken tonight.

Bainbridge Routs Camden Blue Devils

BAINBRIDGE, Md., Oct. 15 (AP)—The Bainbridge naval training center football team swamped the Camden (N. J.) Blue Devils, undefeated leaders of the Eastern Professional Football league, under a 47-7 score today for its tenth consecutive win.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15 (AP)—The Cleveland Rams, surprise team of the National Pro Football League, gave their third straight league game today, erasing Detroit's 17-0 lead to beat the Lions, 20 to 17, before 21,115 spectators at Detroit. The win put the unbeaten Rams only half a game behind the first place Green Bay Packers in the Western division.

End Steve Pritko, former Villanova college star, caught a fifty-three-yard forward pass for the winning Cleveland touchdown in the last period. Frankie Sinkwich, Detroit star back who figured in all of the Lions' points, suffered an appendicitis attack during the second quarter and was taken to a hospital for observation.

Steve Owen's New York Giants took the lead in the Eastern division by humbling their interborough rivals, the Brooklyn Tigers, 14-7, before 24,854 at Ebbets field. A thirty-seven yard aerial, Hank Soar to Verlin Adams, in the final period broke a 17-17 tie.

A crowd of 17,758 at Boston saw the Washington Redskins likewise produce a winning touchdown in the final quarter to defeat the Boston Yanks, 21 to 14. A forty-two-yard pass, Frank Filchock to Ted Lapka, accounted for the score.

The Chicago Bears ended their two-game losing streak by walloping the Card-Pitt combination, 34 to 7, at Chicago.

Badminton Club Opens Fall Season Tonight

The fall season of the Cumberland Badminton Club will open at 7:30 o'clock tonight at Fort Hill high school, Joseph H. Cromwell, president of the club, announced last night.

Cromwell said the club will meet regularly at 7:30 p. m. every Monday and Thursday and at 2 o'clock every Saturday afternoon. Anyone interested in information about the club is asked to contact Cromwell.

He pointed out that almost all of last year's players have returned to the club again this year and added that only a few of them were lost to the armed forces.

Holy Cross Defeats Villanova, 26 to 0

WORCESTER, Mass., Oct. 15 (AP)—Holy Cross college defeated a badly outplayed Villanova football eleven today, 26-0, scoring in every period except the opening quarter. Freshman Leo Troy scored two touchdowns for the victorious Crusaders with Ted Morasky and Joe Nester registering one apiece. Nester kicked both points after touchdown. Morasky, a navy ROTC trainee from Erie, Pa., was the spearhead of the Crusaders' attack and was the big gun in the first three touchdowns.

Young Man Shoots Three Tri-State Himself to Death, Soldiers Wounded Authorities Say

James E. Aldridge Dies in Hospital from Head Wound

James Edward Aldridge, 28-year-old Mt. Savage resident and employee of the Queen City Brewing Company here, died at 5:45 a. m. yesterday in Miners Hospital, Frostburg, almost four hours after he shot himself in the head at his home at 2 a. m. Dr. Linne H. Corson, deputy county medical examiner, said last night.

Dr. Corson issued a verdict of suicide and said the young man took his life because he was despondent. The medical examiner reported that the bullet from the twenty-two caliber rifle entered Aldridge's head above his right ear, crashed through the brain and fractured the skull on the left side of the head where it lodged.

State Trooper Ira G. Unger, who with Trooper Glenn D. Poik, investigated, said Aldridge left three suicide notes. He added that Aldridge drank a considerable quantity of liquor while listening to the radio at his home before taking his life.

According to Trooper Unger, Aldridge had been around his home most of the day Saturday night listening to the radio in the dining room at his home.

Shortly before 11 a. m. yesterday, the trooper related, Aldridge's father, Robert Aldridge, got out of bed, came downstairs and asked his son to turn down the radio.

The son replied that he was going to take his life but his father, believing him to be joking, told him not to do it and to go to bed, Unger reported.

He added that Aldridge asked his father to roll him a cigarette and while the older man was doing it, picked up the rifle leaning against a table, walked to his kitchen, pointed the rifle to his head and shot himself.

Unger and Poik were summoned and removed the wounded man to the hospital where he died.

Served in Army

Aldridge served about four years in the army, police reported, and neighbors said he was discharged a short time before this country entered the present war.

A son of Robert and Ida Logue Aldridge, he was born at Newton Hamilton, Pa. He was a member of Mt. Savage Methodist church.

Surviving besides his parents are three sisters, Mrs. Willie Brown, Cumberland; Mrs. Edna Hogomier, Mt. Savage; Miss Evelyn Aldridge, at home; and three brothers, Charles, with the army in France; Raymond, stationed at Boston, Mass., with the navy, and Clyde, stationed in Virginia with the navy.

The body is at the Durst funeral home, Frostburg. Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Nurses' Aide Says Workers Urgently Needed in Hospital

Describing her experiences as a nurses' aide at Newton D. Baker General hospital during the past two weeks, Mrs. Anna Brennan, 106 North Allegheny street, declared yesterday, "I'll never grumble again after seeing what those boys have been through overseas."

Mrs. Brennan, the first nurses' aide from this vicinity to volunteer for service at a military hospital, worked 107 hours, eight hours a day and six on Sundays, in the wards of the hospital.

"They came to the hospital in droves, by ambulance and train," she related. "There are eighty beds in each ward, with only one head nurse, a ward boy and nurses' aides to take care of the patients. There are 1700 veterans in the hospital now, and only last week ten more nurses left to go overseas."

Stating that 300 new patients came in yesterday, just before she left to return to Cumberland, Mrs. Brennan said that a trip to the hospital would convince anyone of the urgent need for more and more nurses' aides. There were only twenty aides in the hospital during the two weeks she was there, said, including those who came in every other day from Hagerstown and Hancock.

Most of the wounded veterans came by hospital plane from battle fronts in Italy, France and Belgium, she said. Although there were many from the Pacific theater, she said, her off-duty hours, Mrs. Brennan said, she would write letters for boys unable to use their hands, and visit others in the wards to talk with them and try to cheer them up.

After entering the local nurses' aide corps eight months ago, Mrs. Brennan received floor training at Allegheny and Memorial hospitals. She has a total of 750 hours of volunteer nurses' aide work to her credit, and she hopes to be assigned to the military hospital at White Sands, N. M., for additional volunteer work.

"Nurses' aides don't get paid, but it's the least we can do," Mrs. Brennan said.

Six Births Are Reported in Hospitals

Mr. and Mrs. Anthony McElfish, Route 2, Flintstone, announced the birth of a son yesterday in Allegheny hospital.

A son was born to Seaman First Class and Mrs. Ralph Wilson, 141 West Third street, last evening in Allegheny hospital. The father is in France. Mrs. Wilson is the former Miss Mary Vassalli.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde D. Turner, 707 Oldtown road, announced the birth of a son Saturday in Memorial hospital. The father is in the navy.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Patsy Morocco, 149 Bedford street, Saturday morning in Allegheny hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Millard Allen, Patterson's Creek, W. Va., announced the birth of a son Saturday morning in Memorial hospital.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Richard T. Cook, 217 Smallwood street, Friday in Memorial hospital. The father is at Camp Wheeler, Ga., with army forces.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Lehman, 215 Reynolds street, have received the Purple Heart medal, awarded posthumously to their son, Pfc. William J. Lehman, who was killed in France July 9.

A dividend of fifty cents per share for the period of July, August and September, has been paid by the First National bank. According to a letter to shareholders, the dividend was payable only to shareholders of record Sept. 30, 1944, and "is not on the new shares of the dividend shares which the bank will issue some time this month."

In order to complete a shipment, Mrs. Jim McQuown, chairman of the production committee of the Red Cross, said last night that anyone who has obtained wool for knitted garments should complete the articles at once and return them to her. The offices of the production committee in the post office building are open every day except Tuesday and Saturday from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m.

Harold W. Smith, secretary of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce, is in Kansas City attending the meeting of the National Association of Commercial Organizations Secretaries. The meeting opens today and will last for three days.

County Teachers Endorse Salary Schedule Raise

Recommendation Would Boost Range from $1,-500 to $2,250

A recommendation that the teacher salary schedule be raised to range from $1,500 to $2,250 was endorsed by the Allegheny County Teachers' Association at a meeting Saturday in Allegheny high school.

The recommendation was part of a seven-point program proposed by the superintendents' committee at a meeting of the state advisory council in Baltimore October 7. The current minimum range for teachers is from $1,200 to $1,800.

Other suggestions made at the Baltimore meeting included reductions in the size of classes, libraries, the establishment of a guidance program for pupils and the establishment of an adult education program to meet the needs of all adults, including returning servicemen and those who left school to take war jobs.

Harold C. Wickard, member of the state advisory council, and Victor D. Heisey, president of the county teachers' group, reported on the Baltimore meeting and outlined the program.

Further discussion of the suggestions will be held at a meeting of the representative assembly of the Maryland Teachers' Association in Baltimore Friday and Saturday. Wickard said yesterday, Allegheny county delegates have been empowered to back the program with the resolution that the county may start its own program when it becomes necessary and desirable to do so.

Delegates to the state meeting are O. B. Boughton, at large; Miss Lela Taylor, primary; Mrs. Josephine Yarnall and Miss Margaret V. King, intermediate; Eugene J. Hopkins, Wickard and Miss Claire Livey, high school, and Miss Lula M. Blonsky, principals.

A committee named by Heisey to make recommendations regarding the plan for accumulative sick leave includes William G. Fatkin, Luke, Miss Marie D. Ingles and Miss Margaret E. Doak, Cumberland.

Approximately 125 teachers attended Saturday's meeting.

Maritime Service Wants Recruits

Chief A. P. Watts, recruiting officer for the United States maritime service, will be at the local United States Employment Service office Thursday to recruit men between the ages of 17 and 30 for the maritime service, it was announced.

Any man between the ages of 18 and 26 who has not received his selective service induction notice may enroll in the maritime service provided he can pass the physical examination, it was stated.

Chief Watts will be accompanied by a pharmacist's mate who will give the physical examination to applicants at the office.

Local News in Brief

Ann Troxell, Cumberland, represented student publications at the recent assembly for new students. The principal speaker was H. C. Byrd, president, who emphasized the advantage of higher education now available to students attending the Junior in the College of Arts and Sciences. Her home is at 223 Fayette street.

A meeting of the Cumberland Police and Firemen's Welfare Association will meet this afternoon at 4 p. m. at the squad room at police headquarters.

R. M. Hudak, personnel manager for the Kelly Springfield Tire Company has announced that it is possible for Cumberland high school students to work for the Kelly Springfield Tire Company during the summer months.

Boys and girls of county schools, members of the Junior Red Cross in Allegheny county, have packed and shipped 300 Christmas boxes for children of England, liberated France and other areas freed by the Allies, according to Miss Lillian C. Compton, chairman of the group.

Marbles, tops, note pads, pencils, paints, crayons, brushes, hair ribbons, soap, tooth brushes, dentifrices and rubber stamps were donated and packed by the children, Miss Compton said.

Mountain Chapter No. 166, Military Order of the Purple Heart, will hold its regular meeting today at 8 p. m. at the VFW home. Commander Clyde Brant will preside.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Lehman, 215 Reynolds street, have received the Purple Heart medal, awarded posthumously to their son, Pfc. William J. Lehman, who was killed in France July 9.

A dividend of fifty cents per share for the period of July, August and September, has been paid by the First National bank. State Is Planning Radio Network For Education

Postwar Project under Consideration Would Use FM Principle

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15 (AP)—Marylanders may virtually go to school while sitting in their own living rooms if a state-wide network of frequency modulation (FM) radio stations planned by the state department of education is developed after the war.

D. W. Zimmerman, state superintendent of special education, told the Federal Bureau of Communications today that Maryland planned a network which would cover the entire state, overlapping a large portion of Delaware, by a chain of five medium power stations.

One of the five main stations would be placed in the Baltimore area, one probably in Wicomico county, another in Prince George's county, a fourth in the Frederick area and a fifth in Garrett or Allegheny county.

Zimmerman described Maryland's educational network as a part of a widespread move by educational authorities to utilize the new broadcasting principle for the furtherance of education, particularly adult education.

One of the production centers would be in Annapolis, one at the Frostburg State Teachers' College, one at College Park, two in Baltimore, one in Hagerstown and others at scattered points throughout the state, Zimmerman continued.

Costs of transmitting stations, estimated in an exhibit filed with the Federal Communications Commission, would be approximately $95,000; while equipment costs for the program production centers would run between $123,000 and $158,000.

Plans are dependent upon the granting of FM licenses to the Maryland Department of Education by the federal commission.

About twenty-eight states besides Maryland have made basic plans to obtain the radio facilities for educational programs, but Maryland was one of the first to formulate the project.

EXCHANGED PRISONER WILL SPEAK AT WAC RALLY HERE

Staff Sgt. Lester Miller, Hartford, Conn., a former tail gunner aboard a B-24 Marauder bomber, will be one of the guest speakers at a WAC rally to be held in the Maryland theatre Wednesday evening, according to Lt. Frances D. Robinson, WAC public relations officer for the Western Maryland theater.

Miller, who went overseas in 1942, participated in several long flying raids over occupied Europe. His plane was shot down after a combat mission over Holland, and Sgt. Miller received treatment at a German military hospital. He was one of the first fourteen American prisoners of war to be exchanged for German prisoners of the Allies.

After returning to this country, Sgt. Miller was hospitalized at Walter Reed hospital, Washington, D. C. He refused a medical discharge from the army in order to recruit WAC medical technicians, seeing the urgent need for them while at Walter Reed hospital.

Sgt. Miller appears in a film designed to recruit WAC medical technicians, titled "To The Ladies," which was filmed at the hospital early this year. The picture is now showing at the Maryland theatre. It will be shown for the last time tomorrow evening, the night before the rally and fashion show.

All of the films shown last night except the football movie, were donated by DeLisle Chaney.

EXISTING BUILDINGS CAN BE REMODELED

Remodeling or conversion of existing buildings in the Cumberland area to provide additional apartments without any limitations of maximum rents or occupancy by war workers has been authorized by the National Housing Agency, it was announced yesterday.

Charles S. Ascher, regional NHA representative, said the work will not interfere with the needs of essential war industries which have first claims upon manpower and materials.

"It is believed alterations of this type will make comparatively small demands on materials that are critically short and will help relieve the tightness of housing that has been recognized for some time," Ascher stated.

Applications for priority rating for such remodeling must be filed on Form WPB-2896 with the Federal Housing Administration, Fidelity Building, Baltimore. Use of materials and equipment will be limited to the war housing program. Rent schedules must be filed with the OPA, which will not approve rents higher than comparable rents for similar accommodations in this area, Ascher said.

Commissioner of Police and Fire James Orr announced over the weekend that all fire alarms in the downtown district will be answered by the ladder truck if the mayor and council decide at its meeting today to purchase a new chassis.

At the council meeting last Monday Orr introduced an order to purchase the chassis from the Elier Chevrolet Inc. for $1,368, but the order was tabled for one week when Mayor Thomas S. Post suggested an investigation after he expressed the view there might be some "ulterior motive."

However, at a special meeting of the council Friday, the mayor reported that he found no such motive and urged purchase of the chassis as soon as possible.

Orr said the present chassis, 1918 model, was secured by the city in 1923. It is planned to attach the ladder equipment to the new chassis. Orr said, adding that after it is received, the firemen will be given training in its use.

Packages for Overseas Servicemen Must Be Mailed Today

Today is the last day for mailing Christmas packages to servicemen overseas, according to postal officials. The time limit for overseas mailings was extended for one day because parcel post windows were closed yesterday.

Gifts to servicemen whose addresses have been changed until October 15 may be mailed until December 1, officials announced recently.

Eugene V. Raphael Becomes Major in Air Corps

Capt. Eugene Victor Raphael, 27, of Washington street, here, was promoted to major at an army air base at Muroc, Calif., where he is commanding officer of a flight squadron, according to word received by his family Saturday.

Maj. Raphael enlisted in the air corps in April, 1941, and received flight training at Barksdale field, La., where he was commissioned a second lieutenant December 12, 1941. He was promoted to first lieutenant shortly before going overseas to Africa in July, 1942.

Picking a B-24 Liberator bomber, Maj. Raphael took part in raids over Bengasi, Naples, and Greek ports, and was promoted to captain in November, 1942. He received the Distinguished Flying Cross and the Silver Star for his part in many combat missions.

Returning to this country in January, 1943, Maj. Raphael was assigned to Muroc field, where he is now stationed, after spending a brief leave in Cumberland. He is the husband of the former Miss Margaret Garcia, Tampa, Fla., and the father of an infant son, born last July.

A graduate of LaSalle high school, Maj. Raphael attended the University of Maryland law school for three years before entering the air corps. A brother, Ensign Edwin Etienne Raphael, is stationed at Annapolis, Md., at a naval experimental base, where he is a pilot of a C-47 transport plane.

Maj. Raphael's mother has been visiting him in California for the past two months. She will return to Cumberland Thursday.

Large Crowd Attends Knights of Columbus Sports Movie Program

Three hundred and fifty persons attended the sports night program presented last night at the Knights of Columbus home and featured by motion pictures of the Notre Dame Army football game in 1936, the Louisville-Bill Conn fight, the Louis-Buddy Baer fight, and war movies.

Included in the war pictures were the fall of Rome, the invasion of Normandy, the liberation of Paris and the retaking of Guam. Comedy sketches and musical subjects also were shown on the program.

Reaction to the program was so good that James Browning, chairman of the sports committee, plans to have additional football pictures shown as they are made available.

He pointed out that Notre Dame football pictures are hard to get because many of the films have been turned over to the armed forces for showing in camps.

He added that several more programs such as the one held last night are scheduled in order to give Cumberland residents a chance to become better acquainted with collegiate football.

All of the films shown last night except the football movie, were donated by DeLisle Chaney.

Criminal Trials Will Start Today in Circuit Court

Criminal trials of the October term of circuit court open today and theft charges head the list of cases set for hearing.

Three Cumberland men, Orville Elmer Greer, Richard Clark and Russell Barker, are accused of stealing twenty-three cases of whiskey and gin from the warehouse of the Charlton Brothers Transportation Company, Inc., and are scheduled to go on trial today. Also slated to go on trial today are George Thomas Stewart on charges of breaking into the Fisher and Robinson tavern, and Jesse James Valentine and William E. McClellan on charges of taking $77 from Mo Ede on September 18.

Likewise set for trial today are charges against Mrs. Daisy D. Cromwell, operator of a Braddock roadhouse. She was indicted on charges of selling alcoholic beverages to a minor, maintaining slot machines on the premises and permitting minors to loiter in a place where alcoholic beverages are sold.

Albert Ritchie and William Sidney Winters are accused of paternity and are scheduled to be tried today. Other cases include Cortez Childers, charged with larceny, and Geneva Teeter, charged with sale and possession of liquor without a license.

Two Men Will Be Arraigned for Violating Gasoline Rationing

Two men arrested Saturday morning in Washington county by Howland and P. Loughrie, deputy United States marshal, were committed to the Baltimore city jail Saturday afternoon in default of $500 bonds.

The men, Sylvester R. Younker, RFD 2, Hancock, and John S. Barker, Route 1, Hagerstown, were indicted by the federal grand jury Saturday last Tuesday on charges of violating OPA gasoline rationing regulations. Arthur Perlman, OPA investigator for this region, preferred the charges.

Loughrie said yesterday that the men were detained before a hearing at the United States district court in Baltimore this week.

Children Lacking Play Supervision

Seven out of ten school children of Allegheny county play without supervision during the summer months, according to a survey conducted in 1943 by James E. Spitznas, high school supervisor for Western Maryland, who has reported his findings to the Allegheny County Co-ordinating Council of Social Agencies.

The study covered 9,273 children, or about half of the county's school population, and showed 6,514, or seventy per cent, in the unsupervised group. Fifteen per cent attend camp in summer and forty-four per cent engage in some work.

The greatest sufferers from unsupervised play are children outside of the high school centers with the percentage figure reaching a high of ninety-two. Only six per cent of this group attend camp and thirty-five per cent work.

All of the children (negro) ninety-four per cent of the children are without summer supervised play, only four per cent go to camp and thirty-four per cent work.

All of the children attending Loarwood, Vale Summit, Barreille, Mill and Pine Plains schools said they have no summer supervision. Children in the three lower grades at McCool, Midland, Carver, Barton and Flintstone said they had no supervision at all. Grades four to six at Flintstone and grades four to twelve at Oldtown likewise reported no supervision.

Neon Signs Thrill Jungle Veteran

To one Cumberland soldier home after nearly thirty-two months in the Southwest Pacific, the sight of neon signs, traffic lights, and the general activity and brightness of the stores is "like going to a fairy land."

Cpl. Donald C. Lees, 506 Patterson avenue, who went overseas shortly after Pearl Harbor and who wears bronze stars for participation in the Netherlands East Indies, New Guinea and Guadalcanal campaigns, has found out there's no place like home.

While seeing neon signs again was his greatest thrill on reaching Cumberland, Cpl. Lees reports the returning servicemen undergoes a series of changes from the time he leaves a jungle station.

"The first thrill came when I arrived at an embarkation point and had real beans, potatoes and fresh meat," he said. "The dehydrated food in the jungle keeps a man alive but after a period it does not taste so good."

"Ice cream and a cool drink was also a high point at the embarkation center. In the jungles, the drinking water is luke warm. Wearing a neck tie is something strange too, for we don't bother with that sort of thing in New Guinea," he concluded.

Cpl. Lees, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Lees, Twin Rocks, Pa., is a former clerk at the Algonquin hotel. He made his Cumberland home with his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. T. Donald Shires, 506 Patterson avenue.

Maryland Committee Members Complete Conferences Here

Robert O. Bonnell, Baltimore, chairman-treasurer of the Maryland Committee; Roger C. Hershney, Hagerstown, district chairman, and Wallace Johnson, Baltimore, a member, have returned to Baltimore after holding a series of conferences here in the interests of the organization.

The Maryland Committee is a bipartisan organization composed of members of Republicans and Democrats of state-wide prominence who believe the interests of the nation will best be served by the defeat of the New Deal machine and the election of Dewey and Bricker.

Bonnell reported here that the committee is meeting with much encouragement all over the state. Its work is well organized, he said, and will be intensified from now until the election. Its headquarters are at 15 East Fayette street, Baltimore.

Veteran Flier Is Home on Furlough

Capt. John J. Reinhard, Jr., who served fourteen months overseas, participating in battles on two sides of the world, is spending a furlough here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Joseph Reinhard, 133 North Allegheny street.

Flight leader of a B-25 Mitchell bomber squadron, Capt. Reinhard first went into action in the Mediterranean theater, and was wounded in the right leg by flak last Dec. 22.

Capt. Reinhard was transferred to India in March of this year, and has flown seventy-two combat missions. He wears the Distinguished Flying Cross, the Air Medal with Oak Leaf Cluster, the Purple Heart and a presidential citation.

A brother, Pfc. Robert A. Reinhard, is serving with the amphibious engineers in the Netherlands East Indies. Following his twenty-one day furlough here, Capt. Reinhard will report to Miami, Fla.

Two Minors Are Held On Drunkenness Charges

Arrested at 8:10 a. m. yesterday on charges of drunkenness, Charles Bohrer, 19 Maple street, and Richard Steele, 14 Orchard street, are being held in the city jail for the state's attorney. Lt. James E. Van said both Bohrer and Steele are minors. They were arrested by Lt. Van and Detective Edwin Lilly.

Charges of disorderly conduct against Thelma Imes, 481 Eastern avenue, and Viola McCarthy, 109 Bellevue street, were entered on the docket at police headquarters Saturday morning by Officer J. Carl Stouffer. They were arrested on a warrant obtained by Leona F. Imes charging them with creating a disturbance October 12. They were committed to appear in police court for a hearing at 9 o'clock this morning.

Missing Soldier Is Prisoner of Nazis

A local soldier who had been reported missing as of May 12, 1944, has written his father under dates of August 14, 21 and 28 from a German prisoner of war camp.

The soldier is Pvt. Vincent S. Guido, son of Frank Guido, 111 Polk street. He states that the soldier is fair and that there is sufficient sports equipment to enable the prisoners to get exercise.

Son Is Injured In Auto Crash; Father Is Jailed

Automobile Leaves Highway while Descending Polish Mountain

Carl Worley, 26, Kitts Hill, Ohio, was reported in a fair condition in Allegheny hospital last night and his 60-year-old father, William Beverly Worley, Kitts Hill, was held in the city jail by state police as the result of an automobile accident on the western slope of Polish mountain at 11:15 p. m. Saturday.

State Trooper Graydon S. Dunlap and United States Deputy Marshal Howard P. Loughrie were returning to Cumberland from Baltimore when, Dunlap said,
